SEWING MACHINES.
ANGLEY & NORMAN would inform the citizens of Newport and vicinity, that they have been appointed agents for GROVER & BAKER'S CELEBRATED SEWING MACHINES, and that they are now prepared to furnish Manufacturing or the Improved Family Machines, at Manufacturers prices.

We will invite especial attention to the (IMPROVED) SHUTTLE MACHINE, it being very simple, and able to get along with a straight needle, such as with great difficulty made expressly for TAILORS AND SHOE BINDERS, it is found to be as well, if not better, adapted to the general work of a family as any machine that has yet been invented. These machines are sold for $10, though capable of doing any work that can be done with any of the $100 Sewing Machines.

STARS AND STRIPES.
THE SUBSCRIBERS have for sale
UNITED STATES FLAGS made

A NEW MUSIC BOOK, OR THE
New York Musical Review, FOR NOTHING!

We have in press, and shall publish in October, "ASAPAR'S CHORAL BOOK," a new collection of Church Music for Singing Schools and Choirs, by Dr. Lowell M. Mason's best similar work published in 1854, reached the enormous sales, in its first year, of over 64,000 copies, which, in we are confident, the largest sale ever enjoyed, in its first season, by any Church Music Book by a single author. The work now in press will embrace nearly all new matter, culled with great care from numerous sources, such, as it is believed, will be of the highest interest to Choral and Singing Schools.

Its Singing School Department is more extensive and complete than in any previous work, being, indeed, a complete collection in secular music, "the world," as we are accustomed to which, are nearly all quite new. Retail price, one dollar.

We publish, also, THE NEW YORK MUSICAL REVIEW, a fortnightly journal of sixteen quarto pages, including four pages of choice music in each number, with twelve pages of reading matter, including frequent articles from the leading musicians of the country, with all the musical news, &c., &c.
Subscription, $1.00 per annum.

THE TAX ON NEWSPAPERS.

Under the above head we find the following very sensible remarks in the New York Evening Post:

"We have never objected to a tax on newspapers, provided it be fair and equal, and such as not to obstruct their free transmission. The project of compelling them to be sent by mail is open to the objection that it would have stopped a considerable part of the circulation of the newspapers of the large towns. It has failed signally, as it deserved, in the House of Representatives.

Mr. Colfax yesterday brought forward a substitute, subjecting newspapers not carried by the mails to the payment of postage. This failed likewise, for the reason, we presume, that it would be unequal and unfair, inasmuch as it would have levied a tax only on those newspapers which are sent to readers at a distance, while the larger part of the impressions of the daily papers, being distributed in the towns where they are printed, would be exempt.

(Correspondence of The Boston Journal.)

PROVIDENCE, Jan. 20, 1862.

To the Editor of the Boston Journal:

The reputation which the encampment of the 1st regiment of New England Cavalry has gained for itself among the citizens of Providence, led me one day last week to pay a visit to their camp. And the expectations I had formed, as to the appearance of the grounds, were not disappointed. It is decidedly the best encampment which Rhode Island troops ever occupied, and is not excelled by anything I have ever seen in New England.

The camp is about three miles from Providence and half a mile from Pawtucket, situated on the site of a former race course.

The track forms a firm, hard road for the drilling of the battalions, and the teaching of raw recruits to ride with regulation skeleton saddle.

For this purpose, it could not be surpassed, and every fine day the different companies are to be found performing their evolutions to the amusement of spectators.

The principal house on the ground is the Colonel's headquarters, a fine two-story house, with a balcony extending from the second story, where the admirers of horse will be sure to get the speed of their favorites. The main street of the camp is a little to the right of the Colonel's headquarters, so that he can have his balcony over the camp, and the other officers can see every captain, as he stands at the door of his hut. In turn, the side streets run directly to the front of each captain's hut, so that he can stand at his door and see every body of his company, and watch the formation of the troops, under the direction of the orderly. This arrangement is admirable, since the regiment can be formed and all its movements from the first overlooked by the commanding officer. All the quarters of the regiment, with the exception of the colonel's headquarters, are situated within the inner circle of the track, and are of the most comfortable character.

No expense has been spared to make them comfortable, and all the furniture is the best that can be had. The colonel's head-
